Thank you for your interest in Maintaining the Connections Workshop. As an administrator, you understand the importance of the role of school leadership for successful implementation of biblical worldview integration in your schools' classrooms, and how use of the BWI Planner can provide the practical tools for reaching this critical objective.

Because supervisory techniques and strategies are essential for successful implementation, we are pleased to announce Maintaining the Connections workshop, a specialized workshop for administrators and mentor teachers who have attended a Making the Connections: How to put Biblical Worldview Integration into Practice live or DVD workshop.

We invite you to attend Maintaining the Connections, a one-day workshop for the purpose of equipping you with tools for on-going supervision and implementation of biblical worldview integration. The workshop will be held on Monday, October 26, 2009, from 8:30 AM to 4:00 PM at Cascade Christian Schools in Puyallup, Washington.

Maintaining the Connections will provide training and answers to:

- How to train new staff members in BWI methodology.
- How to use staff meeting time effectively to keep the BWI ball rolling in the right direction
- How to have successful and encouraging pre-observation conferences with teachers who have developed a BWI Plan
- What to look for when observing a BWI lesson taught in the classroom
- How to facilitate a meaningful and profitable post-observation conference.
- How to incorporate elements from the BWI Planner into school-wide SLO's...and other miscellaneous tips and recommendations.
- Forms and examples to take back to your school.
